

Spotsylvania Social News

SPOTSYLVANIA, Va., December 28.—The leading social event of this vicinity occurred on Friday night last at "Penny's," the home of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Turnley, in this county. The occasion was one of great pleasure to all who were present, and the host and hostess were untiring in their efforts to add all they could of mirth and merriment to the occasion. The entire community was well represented by the young ladies and gentlemen and not a few of married folk. The parlor was most elaborately decorated and the music of high order. Promptly at 11 o'clock the entire company was led to the supper table by the hospitable Mr. Turnley and partook of the choice viands and other delicacies of the season. After four or five hours of social intercourse and pleasant conversation, dispersed in goodly pleasure, and gratified at the pleasant and profitable time spent under that hospitable roof.

Among those present were Misses Grace Turnley, Mary Ann, Elizabeth, Martha, Louise, Harris, Elizabeth, Gordon, Odell, Powell, Ella, Powell, Julie, Powell, Eva, Lewis, Elizabeth, Turnley, and Florine, Kate, Morton, and Messrs. L. M. Taylor, W. T. Todd, Wallace, J. C. Morton, James, Mansfield, William A. Jettrell, C. R. Andrews, Jr., Morton, Heckman, and James Broadbent.

Rev. Mr. Moore, of the Christian Church, residing in Washington, D. C., is spending some ten days with friends in the vicinity of Spotsylvania.

Mrs. Laura E. Jett, of Spotsylvania, who has been on a visit to relatives and friends in Baltimore and Washington, has returned home.

Mr. Newton Gay Wilson, a student of the Motley Christian College, of Washington, D. C., is at home to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother.

Mr. Morton Heckman, after a two weeks' visit to his friends in Spotsylvania county, has gone to his home in Brunswick county, Va.

Dr. B. Martin Harris, of Orange, is the guest of his father, Mr. T. A. Harris, of Spotsylvania. Dr. Harris will remain some days in the community spending his time socially with his many friends here.

Mrs. Sallie Broadbent Jettrell, the accomplished wife of Mr. William D. Jettrell, of Brokenburg, Va., is on an extended visit to relatives in Caroline county, and thence she will go to spend two weeks with friends in Essex county before returning home.

Mr. Thomas A. Harris, Jr., of Spotsylvania, after participating in the leading social events in this vicinity during Christmas week, has gone to Charlottesville to visit friends, and will return about January 1st.

Mr. Joseph H. Jettrell, of McHenry, in this county, has gone to Tapahannock, in Essex county, to spend the first of the new year, when he will return home.

Professor Coleman, of Washington, D. C., who has been visiting in adjacent counties recently, is now the guest of the historic hotel here, and is enjoying the social festivities of the vicinity with the belles and beaux of Spotsylvania before returning to his home.

Mr. Marion R. Smith, the very efficient deputy clerk of our court, has terminated his official relations here and gone to Mount Pleasant, in Lewis county, on a social visit of some two weeks, after which he will go to Richmond, Va., to engage in business.

Miss Flavia Pulliam, of Belmont, is the guest of Mrs. James A. Harris, of Spotsylvania, and other friends living in that vicinity.

Mr. Saville W. Miller, of Baltimore, is on a vacation of some two weeks or more to this vicinity.

Mr. William C. Clark and his accomplished wife, of Clarksburg, Va., are visiting "East Mount," the home of their father, Mr. George W. Clarke, of this county.

There was a delightful social event on Thursday night at the old Virginia home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Durrett, of Leavell's, Va. Invitations far and wide had gone forth inviting to a dance. The dancing began at 7:30 o'clock, and continued through the entire night. At 12 o'clock the company was invited to a table laden with all the delicacies the season could afford. Several counties were represented by the guests, among whom were Misses Louise Harris, Flavia Pulliam, Mary Sanford, Margarette Colbert, Mamie Palmer, Lily Palmer, Nettie, Gordon, Josephine Brown, Nettie, Goldie Durrett, Delia Durrett, of the county, and the Misses Barber, of Fredericksburg; Messrs. Robert Mullen, Alec Roy, Dr. B. M. Harris, Beale E. Garner, T. A. Coleman, W. M. Gayle, James Frazier, F. L. Frazier, T. A. Frazier, J. D. Mickes and R. Manly Blaydes.

Mr. E. C. McAllister, of "Covey," in this county, is off on a visit to Clifton Forge, Va., and Cliff Top, Fayette and Huntington, Va., whether he has gone for two weeks' stay with relatives and friends.

Mr. George A. Hogans, and John Preston, of Randolph county, Va., are on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hogans, of Berkeley district. The one is a brother, the other a nephew of Mr. J. W. Hogans.

The annual family reunion, which has been observed for some years at the home of Mr. T. A. Harris, of Spotsylvania, was celebrated on Christmas Day. The young ladies and gentlemen and grandchildren joyously united in social and other festivities, and happily evidenced the genuine pleasure which that delightful event brought to each heart.

Mecklenburg Social News

THE MECKLENBURG, CHASE CITY, Va., December 28.—Though far from their homes, the guests here at a rare and delightful Christmas dinner, and above all a home-like Christmas. No more beautiful day could be wished for in the Southern climate, and the dinner was a triumph for the Mecklenburg chef, Mr. J. A. Hyatt, of Boston, and Mr. S. Phelps, of Chicago, are here for the holidays. This is Mr. Hyatt's second visit, and both of these gentlemen are entering into the hunting with much enthusiasm.

Miss home-like atmosphere of The Mecklenburg appeals to one as an ideal place to spend Christmas, while the hunting adds much to the enjoyment. Mr. Hyatt especially appreciates the escape from the severe cold weather of his own, and the sunny weather of Virginia.

The post-Christmas fox hunt was on Tuesday, and among those following the hounds were several of the guests. Mr. Phelps, Colonel Hughes and others. A widely exciting chase resulted in the capture of the animal on the morning of a second.

Mr. John S. Glass, of Lynchburg, Va., has been much benefited from his stay here.

Mr. Liggitt's many friends were much regret to hear of his departure from here a few days after his departure from here.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Davis, of New York, left last week for a visit to South Dakota and Florida. However, they expect to return to the States on a second visit before their return to the North.

Miss Amanda and Lucile Simpson, of New York, have contributed much to the enjoyment of the guests by their sweet music.

The many friends of Mr. O. S. Hunter, of Georgia, will be glad to know of his great improvement since his stay at The Mecklenburg.

Mr. A. S. Crawford, of South Weymouth, Mass., is here for treatment of rheumatism. He has been pleased with the bird hunting and also greatly enjoyed fox hunting. The novelty of the chase was quite interesting to them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reynolds, of New York, are here for treatment of rheumatism. They are much pleased with the bird hunting and also greatly enjoyed fox hunting. The novelty of the chase was quite interesting to them.
